Habitat for Humanity

In the past 30 years more than 285,000 simple, decent homes have been built throughout the world by Habitat for Humanity. With a no profit loan, 500 hours family labour and volunteer support – it's a proven concept that works time and time again.

Every day more than 1 million people around the world share in the work of Habitat for Humanity, as volunteers, as home owners, as builders, planners, donors and partners.

Habitat for Humanity Australia was established in 1988 and has helped provide home ownership to low-income families in Australia through it's network of affiliates located in Victoria, New South Wales, South Australia, Queensland and Western Australia, but also help resource and support programs in developing countries in the Asia-Pacific region.
